Flight of the Transient

By Dancingpots

Bowl 3

*Dancingpots creates contemporary creations in clay inspired by dance,
India, and life*

A note from the potter Vidya Thirunarayan:

I am a potter. I am also a dancer. I perform, teach, and choreograph. Sometimes I bring both mediums together. Other times I look at one through the lens of the other. Please do look up my website if you are curious to know more about my work.

This virtual exhibition,

“Flight of the Transient,” brings together a mix of functional bowls that celebrate food and sculptural pieces that celebrate the ephemerality of life. Created from earthenware clay, all exhibits aim to capture movement, in all its elegant and quirky moments.

The surface designs are inspired by Indian powder drawings and textiles.

Functional bowls

Bowls 1-5

The functional bowls are wheel-thrown and are versatile in their offer. Bowls can be matched to make a wider set for an elegant and informal dining experience for the family. The intention is to make the everyday meal, special. All functional pots are food and oven safe.

The artist can also create bespoke dinner sets to suit individual preferences.

Perfectly imperfect hand-built vessels

Vessels 1-3

In contrast to the functional bowls which call for some measured consideration on the wheel, the hand-build vessels, whole-heartedly celebrate the nation of spontaneity. These vessels boldly applaud the idea of imperfection. They celebrate the in-between, in- complete and the marginalia. The result in a collection of unique and quirky character vessels; vessels that will challenge perceptions.
